Habs battling for league lead

By The Canadian Press

Total team effort has enabled Montreal Canadiens to challenge for No. 1 in the National Hockey League, says coach Bob Berry.

"It is quite phenomenal at this stage of the season, considering the number of games we've played and the wear and tear of travel," Berry said Sunday when asked to explain his team's record of 20 wins, six ties and one loss in the last 27 games.

"Any coach can tell you that you get a streak like that because the 19 guys that dress are playing very well."

The Canadiens won both their weekend games — 5-2 over the Bruins in Boston on Sunday and 5-0 over Hartford Whalers at home Saturday.

On a 10-game undefeated streak, Montreal, 42-12-17 on the season, has 101 points. Only New York Islanders, with 102, have more.

There were two other games Sunday.

Colorado Rockies rebounded from a 6-2 loss Saturday to Pittsburgh Penguins to defeat Hartford 4-3, making the Whalers the first team mathematically eliminated from the playoffs; and Washington Capitals, who beat Philadelphia Flyers 6-3 Saturday, kept their playoff hopes alive by tying New York Rangers 5-5.

Other results Saturday: Calgary Flames 4, Buffalo Sabres 1; Winnipeg Jets 10, Toronto Maple Leafs 2; Edmonton Oilers 5, Vancouver Canucks 3; Quebec Nordiques 9, Chicago Black Hawks 3; Boston 5, Detroit Red Wings 3; Los Angeles Kings 3, Islanders 0; and Minnesota North Stars 3, St. Louis Blues 2.

The Canadiens owned the Bruins this season. Of the eight games between the teams, Montreal won seven. The other ended in a tie.

Doug Jarvis, Doug Wickenheiser and Mario Tremblay scored in the first period to give the Canadiens a 3-0 lead. Boston rookie Barry Pederson scored his 38th of the season on a power play at 8:41 of the second period, then Steve Shutt scored his 29th to restore Montreal's three-goal edge.

Boston's Ray Bourque made it 4-2 at 18:11 of the third period and Montreal rookie Mark Hunter completed the scoring with an empty-net goal at 19:43.

DOUG JARVIS
...19th goal

Rick Wamsley was the winning goaltender, Marco Baron the loser.

Rockies 4 Whalers 3

Goaltender Stan Weir, who saw little action with Edmonton before the Oilers traded him to Colorado last week, pushed the rebound of Don Lever's shot behind goaltender Mike Veisor at 11:37 of the third period for the winning goal.

Lever, Aaron Broten and Bob MacMillan also scored for the Rockies, who won their first game on the road since Dec. 12. Don Nachbaur, Ron Francis and Jordy Douglas scored for the Whalers.

Phil Myre was the winning goaltender, despite Hartford's 39-26 edge in shots on goal.

The Rockies trail fourth-place Los Angeles and the final Smythe Division playoff spot by 11 points with nine games left.

Capitals 5 Rangers 5

In New York, Bengt Gustafsson's second goal of the game with 1:12 remaining spoiled a four-goal rally by the Rangers and lifted Washington to within nine points of Pittsburgh and the final Patrick Division playoff berth. The Capitals and Penguins each have 10 games left.

Rookie Bobby Carpenter scored his 28th and 29th goals and Lee Norwood added a single for the Capitals. Dave Silk, Mike Rogers, Ron Duguay, Steve Vickers and Eddie Johnstone scored for New York.

Goaltender Dave Parro picked up the win, despite New York's 43-26 edge in shots on goal.

Miracle shot produces victory

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Hale Irwin called it a miracle shot, that inspired effort from a shady wooded glen that produced his one-stroke victory in the $400,000 Inverrary golf tournament.

"I can't recall hitting that good a shot, in that situation, in any previous tournament I've won," Irwin said Sunday after he'd broken a three-way tie for the top and secured the 14th victory of his 14-year tour career.

"It was not the sort of shot you practise a lot — you have to be creative."

Irwin, a two-time U.S. Open champion who was locked in a tie with Tom Kite and George Burns for the lead, created a beauty.

It came on the final hole of the tournament, the 36th of the double-round day. Playing in front of Burns and Kite, Irwin went to the 18th on the Inverrary Golf and Country Club course needing a birdie-three to pull ahead. The most unforgiving spot on the hole is to the right and that's where he drove the ball.

"I didn't accelerate through the shot. The wind took it right and, alas, there I was in the woods. I had a shot at the flag — if you used your imagination a little."

He was faced with the problem of keeping the shot low, under overhanging branches. And he didn't have a clear path through the woods. The only way he could reach the putting surface was with a hook.

So he took a five iron, choked down on it, played the ball back in his stance and produced just what the situation demanded, a low pitch that hooked around the trunks of trees, stayed under the branches, hit on the front of the green and ran obediently toward the flag, trickling to a stop four feet it.

He made the putt, then waited for Kite and Burns to finish, each with a par, before the triumph was secured with a 269 total, 19 strokes under par. He had closing rounds of 67 and 66 in the 36-hole finale that was set up when play Thursday was rained out.

"I couldn't be happier," said Irwin, who collected $72,000 and became only the fifth man in golf history to surpass the $2-million mark in career earnings. "I've worked very, very hard on my game in recent weeks and it culminated in a very satisfying victory."

Burns and Kite, in a struggle for the lead most of the nine-hour playing day, tied for second at 270 to earn $35,200 each. Burns had closing rounds of 67, 70 and Kite 71, 67.

Bobby Clampett was fourth alone at 271 with a 67, 66 finish. He was followed by Calvin Peete at 272 and Ray Floyd at 274, Peete finished 67, 69 and Floyd 69, 68.

Dan Halldorson of Shilo, Man., had a 73, then a 72 Sunday, finishing at 288 to earn $840.

Rookie turns home run into a tremendous single

By The Associated Press

When is a grand slam not a home run? Ask Gary Redus.

Cincinnati Reds' non-roster player, facing Philadelphia Phillies' Mike Proly with the bases loaded, one out and the score tied 2-2 in the bottom of the ninth inning of an exhibition baseball game Sunday, hit an apparent grand slam home run over the left-centre field fence.

But Redus, believing the ball had fallen safely in the outfield for a game-winning hit, returned to the dugout after touching first base rather than circle the bases. He was credited with a single and Cincinnati won 3-2 instead of 6-2 over the Phillies.

"It's just that I wasn't watching the ball," said Redus, 25, who played on the Reds' Class AA Waterbury team last year. "The outfielders were playing in pretty close.

"I knew it was over the left fielder's head. I thought it was a single and started to run to first base."

In other spring games, Chili Davis got three hits and scored two runs as San Francisco Giants beat Cleveland Indians 5-1.

While the Giants were winning their first game in five tries, Atlanta won its seventh in eight spring decisions, a 4-3 triumph over Texas Rangers.

KNIGHTS TAKE STRANGLEHOLD

By The Canadian Press

Kelowna Buckaroos discovered Sunday it's going to take an all-out effort if they hope to stave off elimination in their B.C. Junior Hockey League playoff series with powerful Penticton Knights.

The Buckaroos, who dropped the first two games of the best-of-seven Interior division final 12-1 and 4-1, were ahead 5-3 after two periods in Penticton Sunday, but wilted in the final frame, giving up four unanswered goals for a 7-5 loss.

In Duncan, Cowichan Valley Capitals scored four goals in overtime to defeat New Westminster Royals 7-5 and even their Coastal Division final at two games apiece. New Westminster had won Saturday's game on the island 9-6.

Ray Ferraro scored two goals for Penticton Sunday, including the winner with 2:32 remaining. Leroy Remple also scored twice, while Brad Beck, Brent Gropp and Barry Huber added the others.

Canadian team shows promise

COPENHAGEN (CP) — Canada's team to the world figure skating championships gave them a farewell celebration Saturday night and it was a party every member deserved.

The youthful Canadian contingent defied logic and ignored the critics and questionable judging to establish Canada as a power to be recognized at future world championships.

The team won only one medal — a bronze in men's singles by Brian Pockar of Calgary — but it performed at an unexpectedly high level.

"I've never seen a group that gave everything for the entire week from start to finish," David Dore, president of the Canadian Figure Skating Association, said when it was over. "My feeling is that they served notice that as a group they certainly are a force.

"It's my opinion that this is the greatest week in Canadian figure skating."

Canada's most successful week at world championships in more than 15 years began quietly last Tuesday when Pockar finished fifth in compulsory figures. That showing was tempered by the fact Canadian champion Brian Orser managed only a 12th.

The momentum began that same day when Barbara Underhill of Oshawa, Ont., and Paul Martini of Woodbridge, Ont., survived a fall to finish fifth in the pairs short program.

It began to mount Wednesday when Pockar and Orser used the short program to move to fourth and eighth place, respectively.

PAIR TAKES FOURTH

Dore knew the team was on the way when Martini and Underhill finished fourth in the pairs and Lori Baier of Mitchell, Ont., and Lloyd Eisler of Seaforth, Ont., finished ninth.

"The skaters were really excited and it was exciting to see them barely finishing this season and already talking about next year."

On Thursday, Kay Thompson of Toronto made her world debut by finishing sixth in the figures. The only low point of the week was Elizabeth Manley's misfortune on the first figure that left her 23rd.

Then came the big surprise — Pockar, a former three-time Canadian champion who had never finished higher than eighth at the worlds, won Canada's first medal since 1974 when he finished third in the men's singles.

BRIAN POCKAR
...bronze medal

"That was the only rewarding thing that has happened to me all year," said Pockar, who had resisted the temptation to retire after losing his Canadian title and missing most of the season due to injuries.

POCKAR WINS BRONZE

Ironically, it was the freeskating performance of Orser, Pockar's main rival in Canada, that allowed the Calgarian to win the bronze medal. Orser finished third in the freeskating and Pockar was fourth and that combination gave Pockar the medal.

Thompson and Manley finished sixth and 11th in the short program. Tracy Wilson of Port Moody, B.C., and Robert McCall of Dartmouth, N.S., made their world debut as partners by finishing 10th in the dance.

Thompson finished ninth in the freeskating and eighth overall and Manley completed her recovery by finishing seventh in the freeskating and 13th overall.

"We all seemed to fight until the end, which is good to see. That's what Canadians are known for."

Senior finals under way

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Alberta, New Brunswick and Manitoba each recorded two wins and no losses Sunday in the opening day of the Canadian Senior Men's Curling Championships.

"If we keep curling like we did today we could end up winning this championship," said Ray Tull of Calgary, whose rink beat Wendall MacDonald of Charlottetown 8-3 in the first round and Ted Jourista of Delisle, Sask., 7-3 in the second.

The MacDonald rink, along with Newfoundland and the Territories, was winless after two rounds. "We just didn't curl up to our calibre," said MacDonald, winner of the national title in 1971, 1975 and 1976.

Tull stole four points in the 10th end to defeat MacDonald 5-3 in the first round. In the second, the Calgary rink stole two in the ninth end for the 7-3 win over Delisle.

Third time lucky for Hackner rink

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — Unlike Casey At The Bat, Al Hackner did not strike out.

The Northern Ontario skip got his third chance Sunday and connected off Brent Giles of British Columbia to win the Canadian men's curling championship.

"It's a tremendous weight off our shoulders, something we can be proud of," said Hackner, who defeated his Vancouver opponent 7-3 in the final game of the week-long tournament. "Not too many teams can come as close as us the last two years, then still want to come back."

Rick Folk delivered strike one against Hackner in the 1980 championship when the Saskatoon skip won 10-6 in the final at Calgary. Later, Folk led his Saskatchewan rink to the world title.

Strike two came last year when Hackner wound up first in the round-robin portion of the tournament, sponsored by Labatt, then dropped a 5-4 decision to Kerry Burtnyk of Winnipeg.

"It's every curler's dream, just to get here," said Hackner. "To win it is the ultimate dream."

Hackner, third Rick Lang, second Bob Nicol and lead Bruce Kennedy were so sharp against the Giles foursome that B.C. rarely had a chance for a big end.

Northern Ontario got two in the third end for a 3-1 lead, then pulled away with six points in each of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth ends.

Hackner advanced to the final with an 8-5 win over Mel Logan of Souris, Man., in semifinal play Saturday. Giles got the bye into the final because of his leading 9-2 won-lost record in the round-robin schedule.

PLACED SECOND

Hackner finished second with an 8-3 record in the 12-rink, round-robin portion of the tournament this year. The rink lost three games in a row and appeared to be in trouble after starting the 53rd championship as the hot favorite.

However, the Northern Ontario team put it all together against Manitoba in much the same way it did against its Vancouver rivals, stealing single points in each of the fourth, fifth and sixth ends.

At the end of round-robin play, Logan, Charlie Sullivan of Fredericton and Mark Noseworthy of St. John's, Nfld., all finished in a tie for third place with 6-5 records, forcing two tie-breakers for the final playoff spot. New Brunswick beat Newfoundland in the first, then Sullivan lost to Logan in the second.

At 5-6 were Ontario's Bruce Munro of London, Gary Morken of Grande Prairie, Alta., Lowell Goulden of Dartmouth, N.S., Don Aitken of St. Jean., Que., and Brad Heitd of Kerrobert, Sask. Peter Jenkins of Charlottetown and Paul Hunter, skip of the Territories' rink from Whitehorse, were both 3-8.

The all-stars were Hackner, Manitoba third Doug Armour, B.C. second Al Roemer and Saskatchewan lead Warren Rechenmacher.

Swedish squad trounces U.S.

FREDERICTON (CP) — Soren Grahn was not confused by his own play, but Mert Thompsett was hard pressed to explain his performance after two rounds Sunday at the Uniroyal junior men's world curling championship.

Grahn, 19, a member of the Swedish armed forces, directed his rink to two convincing victories — 10-2 over the United States and 9-3 over Italy — to share the lead in the 10-country tournament with Scotland, the defending champion, and unheralded Norway.

Scotland, skipped by Robin Gray, 18, a Glasgow bank trainee took advantage of Thompsett's shakey start to edge the Canadian rink 5-4 and struggled to get past West Germany 4-3 in the evening draw, while Norway, represented by Morten Skaug, beat Denmark 6-4 and France 9-2 at night.

The results set the stage for the first key game in the third round today, matching Sweden and Scotland while Norway puts its undefeated string to the test against the United States.

"I didn't think it was going to be this easy," Grahn said after the Italian game when he stole three in the fourth end to take an insurmountable 7-1 lead in the second-round match at the Aitken Centre arena on the University of New Brunswick campus. "I was very lucky.

"The guys have played well but I missed a lot of shots."

CANADA OFF TARGET

Thompsett's trouble was not with the ice, as many felt might be a factor after practice Saturday.

"We just haven't been shooting good," said Thompsett, an assistant icemaker at the Assiniboine Memorial Curling Club in Winnipeg. "I guess to say we were struggling would be an understatement."

He said the rink played well enough to win both games but understandably was depressed after playing for deuces in ends in its two games then struggling to make singles.

Thompsett, whose victory over Denmark skip Jack Kjaerluff was achieved only through some timely misses by the inexperienced Danes, saw his record evened at 1-1 to share second place with the Americans, led by Dale Risling of Seattle, Wash. Jon Simen of Switzerland and West German Christoph Moeckel.

Denmark, Christophe Boan of France and Italian Adriano Lorenzi were winless after two rounds of play in the round-robin section of the tournament that ends Thursday, with semifinals Friday night.
