

Lowe Expects 30 Boys At Junior Camp

Odie Lowe expects 30 boys to attend Tuesday night's junior training camp at the Civic Arena.

Changed days indeed for coach Lowe, who only one week ago counted eight hopefuls at his opening session.

"Yes, things are shaping up pretty well now," said Odie Sunday. "Our appeal for players has brought response we never thought possible. Players from Salmon Arm, Grindrod, and Lumby have taken part in our last two workouts, and we expect even more when we go at it again Tuesday night."

Junior manager Howie Sugden expressed his satisfaction at the co-operation shown by arena manager Frank Redman in arranging ice time.

"We had two hours Sunday, and will have two hourly sessions this week. This ice time is greatly appreciated and is already showing up in our training," he said.

The Okanagan Junior "A" Hockey League is slated to open here October 31 with Brian Roche's Kelowna team the visitors. Season tickets are still available at $5.25.
