

Junior leagues may interlock

Plans have been formulated for an interlocking schedule between the two lower mainland teams in the Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League, Vancouver, and New Westminster Royals, and the four-team Okanagan Junior Hockey League, according to Vancouver coach Bernie MacDonald.

The games between the two PCJHL clubs and those in Vernon, Kelowna, Penticton and Kamloops will count in the standings of both leagues.