

Exhibition hockey

Regina Pats here Jan. 31

Local hockey fans will be in for an extraordinary hockey treat on January 31st and Feb 1st.

The Regina Pats will be touring four of the six teams involved in the BC JHL.

The planned tour will begin at Victoria on January 29 with a game against the Cougars. The team then moves to New Westminster on Jan. 30th for a game against the Royals.

The Pats will come to Vernon for a game on Jan. 31st, then to Kelowna for action on Feb. 1st.

With this in mind, the Junior game slated in the Vernon civic arena for Saturday, Feb. 1 will be changed to Feb. 2 at 2 p.m.

This Sunday, however, thoughts of the visiting Regina Pats will be far from the minds of the Vernon Essos as they tangle for the third time in three weeks with the Victoria Cougars. Both previous encounters in this series have resulted in losses for the Essos.

A good crowd is anticipated for the game as the Essos and the Cougars always provide the finest in Junior hockey competition.

Reports from Victoria indicate that the Cougars have not sold the Essos short after handing out a real drubbing last weekend. The main opinion would appear to be that the Essos had a bad day and didn't quite click when they should have. Which they feel is rare for the Essos.

In that case, the Cougars will be working harder than ever to provide top calibre competition for the Essos who definitely aren't thinking kindly of the idea of dropping three in a row to the Island crew.

Essos pursue first place

The hard-working Vernon Essos are now within one point of tying the league leaders, according to the latest BCJHL statistics released today.

In action this weekend, the Victoria Cougars, who are currently tied for first place with Penticton, could conceivably move way out in front if they can bypass the Penticton Broncos Friday and the Kamloops Rockets Sunday.

Victoria will be hosted by the Vernon Essos Saturday night at the Vernon Civic Arena.

Any combination of wins and losses by either Victoria or Penticton and a Saturday win by the Essos could give the Vernon boys sole possession of second place in the BCJHL.
