

HIGH FLYING PUCK

Goalie Kenny Holland and defenceman Brian Griese (dark jerseys) made like a brick wall as they effectively stopped a pair of Penticton Broncos as they knocked on the Vikings goal crease in a game played at Penticton last Sunday afternoon. Note the bouncing puck, outlined by Penticton's Greg Milliards white jersey in the centre of the photo. It seemed everyone was trying to get a piece of the puck before it dropped to the ice and Mark Patterson, extreme right, looked like he was on the receiving end of a raised stick as it brushed by his face. Broncos went on to win the game by a wide 7-1 margin to put them back within three points of catching second place Vernon in the B.C. Junior 'A' hockey league standings for the Interior section of the eight team league.