

HOOF BEATS

with Jeanne White

A weekly column to add the novice horseperson. Here are a few more definitions for you - in case last week's list stirred up your curiosity!

DAM - the mother of a foal
PURE BRED - This is where the parents are of the same breed. For example a purebred Arabian Stallion and a purebred Arabian mare will produce a purebred foal. An Anglo-Arabian is a recognized breed where the foal has only Thoroughbred and Arabian blood. A Half-Arabian is produced when one purebred Arabian parent is mated with another breed.
THOROUGHBRED is a breed of its own and the name is not used for a purebred horse of any other breed. The Thoroughbred is the leading breed in the world. It was bred in England from the 18th century on descending from three main Arabian sires, the Godolphin Arabian, the Bay Turk and the Darley Arabian. Details of foals are recorded in Stud Books. The first one kept was in England and was called the General Stud Book. Each breed society has its own stud book.
HALF-BROTHERS - These are horses out of the same dam by different sires. If by the same sire and out of different dams, the products are spoken of as "by the same sire" but not as half brothers or sisters.
FULL BROTHERS OR SISTERS are by the same sire out of the same mare.
BROTHERS-IN-BLOOD. These are horses by the half sire out of full brothers out of full sisters; by full brothers out of the same dam.
EMBRYO is the vitallized germ of an animal in earliest stages of life. Later called fetus.
DOMINANT refers to a parental factor or characteristic shown by full brothers out of the same dam.
CONGENITAL - is said of characteristics existing at birth. But they are not the same as germinal characteristics as they are the products of acquired variations as those appearing later on in life.
RECESSIVE relates to characteristics of one parent suppressed by a dominant factor of the other parent.

Flanagan wins Cy Young Award

BALTIMORE (AP) - Mike Flanagan picked up delivery and won it as the American League's Cy Young Award winner for the 1979 season. The 27-year-old left-hander, who posted a 28-8 record for Baltimore's league champions, was a runaway winner in the balloting conducted by Baseball Writers Association of America.

"I'll always look at the award as a team thing," said Flanagan, the fifth Orioles pitcher in 11 years to win or share the honor.

"Maybe I was the best pitcher," Flanagan said while noting the Orioles won 108 games in regular and post-season play, "but I was also on the best team."

Flanagan, Baltimore's seventh choice in the 1979 draft, credited team-mate Scott McGrew with turning his season around by teaching him a changeup.

HELED HIS PITCHING
"It came naturally from the first time he showed me how to throw it," Flanagan said. "In the first half of the season, if I didn't have a good curve ball, I got beat. But after I learned the changeup, I threw my slider more. I became a four-pitch pitcher. The changeup was my whole game plan and put me over the hump."

From July 9 on, Flanagan won 13 of 16 regular-season decisions, turning in a 2-2 earned-run average over 18 starts. He finished fourth in the AL with 106 ERA.

In addition to leading the major leagues in victories, he started the league lead with five shutouts, was second with 38 starts, and third with 190 strikeouts and 285 2/3 innings pitched.

Flanagan won the opening game of the World Series against Pittsburgh Pirates, lost game No. 5, and then faced one batter in the ninth inning of the final game as manager Earl Weaver used almost his entire bullpen in a futile effort to stop Pittsburgh's clinching victory.

Asked if he would seek to negotiate the remaining two years of his present contract he signed in 1977, Flanagan said:

"I haven't even thought about it. I have enough money now. I'm content."

Flanagan, the only pitcher named on all 28 ballots, totalled 18 points under a system which allows five points for first place, three for second and one for third.

Tommy John, 21-9 during the season with New York Yankees, was next with 91 points and last year's winner, Yankee Ron Guidry, 18-8 was third at 26 after they split votes. Texas Rangers reliever Jim Kern was fourth with 20 points.

Bucks suffer setback

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
At Radio's third goal of the night, into the empty net on one second to play, clinched a 3-3 win for Kelowna Rockets over Kelowna Buckaroos Tuesday and gave the club a share of second place in the British Columbia Junior Hockey League's Interior division Tuesday.

Meanwhile, in Coastal division action, Richmond Sockeyes tripped Abbotsford Flyers 3-0 to move into a third-place tie with Nanaimo Clippers.
