

Small lakes are now safe

By SHOMY TRUMBLY
...smaller lakes can be considered safe for ice fishing. Certainly, a high elevation lake will have the depth to support an open water fish...

Some ice fishermen prefer to fish near the bottom. It's just a matter of preference. You will catch them in the same places, and at the same depth as you did in summer months.

While ice fishing it is illegal to deposit any material in the lake to attract fish. You are not a good bait to use because the fish get away after taking the kernel. It cannot digest corn, and will die.

When ice fishing, you should read your regulations and know the changes. There are a lot of regulations, and you may have to change your fishing gear...

When ice fishing, always mark your open hole with a net. This will keep the lake clean. A small branch will do the trick. It will keep the hole open and the fish will come in.

AUSTIN NAMED TOP ATHLETE

NEW YORK (AP) - Tracy Austin, youngest person ever to win the United States tennis championship, has been named The Associated Press female athlete of the year for 1979.

Now 17, Austin won the U.S. Open last September, beating long-reigning champion Chris Evert Lloyd in straight sets in the final.

Now 17, Austin is ranked third in the world by the Women's Tennis Association, behind Martina Navratilova and Lloyd - a close grouping from computer points used to make the ratings.

In balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, Austin received 586 votes. The runner-up was 19-year-old golfer Nancy Lopez Melton, The AP's female athlete of the year in 1978.

At age 15, Austin was the two-time Wimbledon winner, was third with 33, followed by 10-dominion basketball star Nancy Lieberman with 13 and marathon swimmer Diana Nyad with five.

Lloyd, chosen AP athlete of the year three times (1974, 1976 and 1977), received four votes.

Austin first commanded notice at Wimbledon in 1977 when, at age 14, she reached the third round, then lost to Lloyd.

Kaline, Snider named to Hall

NEW YORK (AP) - Based on today's baseball economy, Duke Snider and Al Kaline, the newest members of the Hall of Fame, were bargained for their best salaries Wednesday after being voted into the Cooperstown, N.Y., shrine.

"My highest salary was $600 and a Cadillac when I was played in Brooklyn," said Snider. "And I was happy to get it."

Kaline said he made just over $100,000 each of his last three years, but he and Snider just under $100,000 and at one point reached a raise.

There weren't many off years for either Snider or Kaline, who won a decisive election to the Hall of Fame in voting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Snider received 343 of the 380 votes cast and Snider, who hit 333 this time. Both were well beyond the 280, or 75 per cent, required for election.

Don Drysdale finished third with 215 votes. He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1978. He hit 300 home runs and 200 RBIs in his career.

Mayor scores three as Kings thump Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Los Angeles Kings coach Bob Barry knew exactly why he had scored the line of Bob Taylor, Marcel Dionne and Bobby Clarke when they won this year - they don't listen to him.

BOB TAYLOR ... 28 goals

MARCEL DIONNE ... two assists

when Carlson speeded down the left side on a breakaway and passed to Mike Murphy. Murphy's pass was intercepted by the Hawks' goalie, Grant Mulvey's skate and trickled into the net.

In the third period, Taylor scored his second goal of the night after taking a pass from Randy Manery and got his third goal six minutes later on a pass from Dionne. After that completed the scoring three minutes later.

Montreal jumped on rookie goalie Vincent Tremblay for three goals in the first 10 minutes of play then held off Toronto for its victory.

Three of Montreal's first seven shots were goals. When Montreal took a 3-0 lead, Toronto coach Floyd Smith yanked Tremblay in the ninth minute of play in favor of Paul Harrison.

Harrison's appearance in the pre-game warmup had marked the positions on the flooded courts and were set to resume first-round play this afternoon. The format calls for one round on each of four courses - La Quinta, Eldorado, Indian Wells and Bermuda Dunes - before the field is cut and the pros only play the fifth and last round.

About one-quarter of the field has failed to make the turn when flooded greens, fairways and bunkers made the four courses unplayable.

Due to the large number of amateurs competing and the lack of daylight, it simply isn't possible to play two rounds in a day," said Clyde Mangum, PGA tour deputy commissioner.

"The courses are in such bad condition, it will take time for them to drain and for us to get them in shape to play. There's just isn't enough daylight for us to complete this round and then try to play another full round in the same day."

ONLY TWO FINISH
Only two of the 128 pros - Jerry McGee and Peter Jacobsen - completed their rounds before heavy rains swamped the courses and forced the suspension of play. McGee struggled to an 86 and Jacobsen shot par 74, both at La Quinta.

Desert rain delays Bob Hope Tournament

FALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) - A rare desert rain has forced the $304,500 Bob Hope Desert golf tournament into an even more unusual situation - a six-day format.

A steady downpour Wednesday forced an overnight suspension of play in the first round. It was scheduled to be completed today.

Since the lack of daylight at this time of the year and the unique setup of this tournament make it impossible to play double rounds, the only five-day, 60-hole tournament on the PGA tour schedule has been extended through Monday.

"Due to the large number of amateurs competing and the lack of daylight, it simply isn't possible to play two rounds in a day," said Clyde Mangum, PGA tour deputy commissioner.

Borg hammers Tanner

NEW YORK (AP) - The message came through loud and clear. Bjorn Borg delivered it to the world with thundering serves, crisp volleys and aggressive playments.

The Swedish star took apart Roscoe Taylor on Wednesday night in the opening round of the $400,000 Grand Prix Masters tennis tournament at Madison Square Garden.

After his 6-3, 5-2 devastation of the left-handed American, Borg said he had second thoughts.

Borg is seeded No. 2 in this tournament that serves as the championship for the 1979 Grand Prix series.

McNabb, the defender here and the top point-getter in 1978 as well as the U.S. Open finalist, is the top seed.

However, if Borg continues to play as he did in his first match, not even the ever-improving McNabb, or even Harold Solomon 6-3, 7-5, can stop him from claiming the $100,000 first-place prize.

Borg meets No. 3 Jimmy Connors in the feature match tonight.

Connors got little resistance from Jose Higueras in the play's first round, grabbing the leads in both sets en route to a 6-3, 6-0 rout of the No. 7 Spaniard.

The other afternoon match was an exciting display of power in which No. 6 Guillermo Vilas of Argentina outlasted No. 5 Vilas Gerulaitis 6-4, 6-3.

Today's matchups were Gerulaitis-Solomon, and McEnroe-Vilas in the afternoon and Tanner-Higueras preceding Borg-Connors at night.

"If they're (Wisconsin) interested in him now," added McNabb, "they'll be looking at the end of the season."

Newberry said he feels good about the attention he's getting, but watching him, although he's "not really conscious of their presence any more than I am of anyone in the crowd watching the game."
